

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to sheets of mosaic tile, and an apparatus and method of using that apparatus, for their production. In particular, the present invention provides mosaic tile sheets in which the individual mosaic tile subunits are attached to a rigid support such that 5 the finished faces of the mosaic tile subunits are aligned in the same plane (or in the same curved surface).